Homework Tips

Have a set time for your child to complete homework so it becomes part of a routine (like right after school).

Have a homework-friendly place free of distractions that makes homework completion easier (clutter free kitchen table).

Provide guidance when your child needs help DON'T just give them answers.

Be able to recognize signs of frustration so that you can suggest a break.

Don't forget to reward their effort! Rewards don't have to be big or expensive it could be baking cookies together or going for a walk.

Tips for Reading

Have your child read to you every night.

Make sure you have a quiet, distraction-free place for them to read.

When your child is reading to you, check their understanding of the story by pausing every now and then to ask questions about the story.

Have your child retell the story in his/her own words.

If your child reads a word incorrectly, help them correct his/her mistake.
